RE: "Washington Place"

As a member of the "millennial generation", I am already at a disadvantage in the housing market. This is even more-so the case in Newton and across the Metro Boston region. Housing costs are increasing considerably every single year and finding reasonably priced apartments is a real challenge for most people my age these days. The Washington Place development being planned in Newtonville will hopefully be the first of many projects in the area that will make it easier for specifically younger people (and even older people on the other end of the spectrum) to live comfortably in Newton. I think the Council ought to approve this project quickly and enable more people to live here.
Thanks.
